Subject: Application for a Junior Application Developer Position

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in a Junior Application Developer position within your organization. My academic background in Information and Communication Technology (Application Development) at Durban University of Technology has given me a foundation in software development, programming, web technologies, and database concepts. I am eager to build on this foundation in a professional development environment.

My technical learning includes C#, Java, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, Razor, and SQL fundamentals. I am also developing my personal ICT portfolio website, where I am applying HTML, CSS, and JavaScript to create a structured, responsive website that presents my background, technical skills, and projects. This personal project is helping me strengthen my understanding of web development and improve my ability to organize and maintain code.

In addition to my technical background, I gained customer-facing experience as a Technical Support Assistant at Albert Park Internet Café from October 2024 to January 2025. I assisted customers with computer use, document services, and basic computer and internet connectivity problems. This experience helped me develop communication, patience, and practical problem-solving skills that I can bring to a collaborative development team.

I am motivated to keep learning, improve my programming abilities, and contribute to the development and maintenance of useful software applications. I would appreciate the opportunity to demonstrate my enthusiasm, technical foundation, and commitment to professional growth.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my suitability for the position.

Yours sincerely,
Lizalise Hlangani
